Conductor's Biography

Sandy Miller is an elementary music specialist in the Johnston School District. She studied music education at the University of Northern Iowa. Passionate about education, and music, Sandy has gone on to receive her mastery in the Kodaly levels, and has taken class in Orff for her level II certification. In 2017 Sandy received her Masters Degree in Educational Leadership and Curriculum from Drake University. Sandy also is an assistant conductor for Heartland Youth Choir, where she directs Canto, and Cantilena. Next year, she will continue in the organization as the Artistic Director. She is on the board for Iowa Music Educators Association. Sandy has presented at the IMEA conference, ICDA, and has directed elementary honor choirs around Iowa. Working with children to lead them to a life with music, and constant learning is her passion.
